1973: AN EVEN BIGGER YEAR FOR ELECTRIC TRAINS AND RACING

Explosive growth of these categories now in its third year.

It started at the turn of the seventies. Consumers wanted products that offered really long-lasting play value. At the same time, there was a return to more traditional hobby items, particularly those which adults, as well as kids, could relate and participate.

These basic trends and attitudes continue. Already they have contributed to an unprecedented demand for electric trains and racing sets. And all evidence indicates that 1973 will break all previous records in these categories.

Effective merchandising makes the big difference.

Tyco is the leading manufacturer of electric trains and racing. While most manufacturers of these products have benefited from the increased consumer demand, Tyco's growth rate has far outdistanced the total growth rate of these two categories.

The reasons lie in a unique combination of product, advertising, and merchandising support, that has enabled thousands of retailers to reach new profit and volume levels with both sets and accessories from Tyco.

The greatest success has been enjoyed by those retailers who have set up Tyco Train/Racing Departments to effectively merchandise higher-priced sets as well as a broad range of accessories.

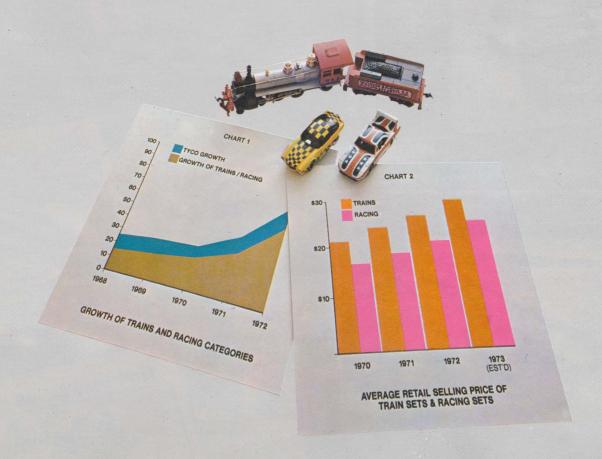

This has been a major factor in the increase of the average price of sets sold, and the resulting increase in total sales volume in these categories.

Tyco puts it all together for 1973.

Tyco supports its line with a broad range of marketing services, including effective consumer advertising, gondola plans, counter merchandisers, ready-to-use local ad material, and outstanding packaging.

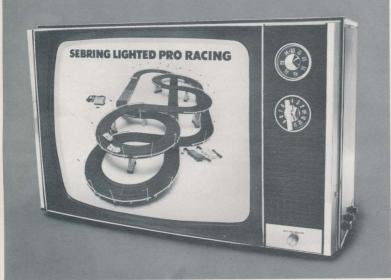

Many manufacturers provide some of these things. But Tyco does more, does them more thoroughly, and takes greater care to serve the needs of retailers.

On the following pages, you will find the highlights of the Tyco advertising and merchandising program for 1973. Tyco can help make it your biggest year.
